We Turn Bold Ideas Into Polished Experiences

Sunblind Games is a Madrid-based Unity development team partnering with publishers, studios and IP owners.

We specialize in stylized projects with a strong central hook. From polished vertical slices to complete small-scale games.

Our lean, hands-on structure keeps production costs competitive and puts more of each budget into the game.

Unity • Stylized • Co-Development

Vertical Slice Development

Our primary focus: turning a concept or early prototype into a polished, representative playable build of your vision.

- Scope definition, game design and prototyping
- Gameplay and systems implementation
- Stylized 2D and 3D production
- Animation, SFX & VFX and UI implementation
- Performance optimization, QA support and milestone builds

Result:

A focused build that demonstrates the game's core experience, visual direction and production feasibility.

Typical engagement:
3-6 months

Full-Cycle Game Development

Complete development of small-scale stylized Unity games.

We take responsibility for the full production journey

- Define with you - Align the creative vision, scope and production roadmap.
- Build for you - Develop the complete game: systems, content and features through clear production milestones.
- Finish what you need - Balance, optimize and polish a release-ready PC build.

We can start from a client concept or an approved vertical slice while maintaining consistent creative, technical and production leadership.

Typical engagement:
12-24 months

What FKC Proves About Sunblind

Capabilities to take an original concept to a polished experience.

Distinctive Game Design & Art Direction

A clear, marketable gameplay hook supported by an original and consistent stylized art direction, distinctive character design to environments or illustrations.

Technical Execution

Physics-driven combat, ragdolls, co-op systems, Twitch integration and technology designed for large crowds of simultaneous enemies.

Production Discipline

Careful scope management, consistent internal milestones and a clear focus on protecting the essential player experience.

End-to-End Ownership

Game design, engineering, art, UI, VFX, production and supporting launch materials developed internally.

A self-funded production that demonstrates what Sunblind Games can deliver.

How We Work

Clear ownership. Regular builds. Direct communication.

- One producer as the main client contact.
- Weekly production updates.
- Regular playable builds, typically every two weeks.
- Monthly milestones.
- Shared backlog and documented decisions.
- Scope changes handled through clear change requests.
- NDA and client ownership of commissioned work.

Our Team

We scale with trusted specialists when a project requires additional capacity.

Art

Our artists bring professional and freelance experience, with team members recognized as finalists in The Rookies.

Programming

Our programmers have led engineering on other game projects and know how to turn creative ideas into playable experiences.

Working with Publishers

Several team members have worked in publisher-side QA on outsourced projects. We understand how publishers and licensors collaborate with external teams, the mistakes studios commonly make and how to avoid them.

Passion for Making Games

We regularly delve into gameplay explorations, and enjoy making games even more than playing them. That passion shows in the care, curiosity and energy we bring to every project.

Our Services at a Glance

Service	Scope	Duration
Vertical Slice	Proving the creative vision, core gameplay and production approach through a polished, representative build.	3-6 months*
Full-Cycle Development	Complete small-scale stylized Unity production	12-24 months*

Each service stands on its own. If a vertical slice progresses into full production with us, we can continue without losing project knowledge or rebuilding its foundations.

*Timelines depend on the project's scope and starting point.
